* A city, town, community, or area in close proximity of Buckhead.
A place mentioned in conjunction with the Buckhead area residents.

Just how long Buckhead was a thriving community is not known, nor does there seem to be any record of when the stores and gin went out of business. Even after the post office closed in 1906, the businesses continued for some time.

Today if you drive to this particular intersection there is nary a sign nor any old business structure attesting to this having once been the center of activity for the many families who lived out their lives in the quaint little community called Buckhead.
